All associates and managers of PAM Hotels must respect the laws and regulations of the countries in which we operate. We must seek the growth of PAM Hotels as a business and always adhere to principles of integrity, respecting our values.

Our Code of Ethics and Conduct is a guide to our standards of behavior and also provides examples of situations that are contrary to our organizational culture of compliance and integrity, which should be reported accordingly, even if it is only a concern, provided the report is filed in good faith.

It is clear that no document can anticipate and address each and every situation that may arise, so if you are ever faced with this type of circumstance and have any doubts, you can contact the Compliance Department, which is responsible for resolving any doubts and interpreting our Code of Ethics and Conduct.

It is our responsibility as employees and managers to be familiar with the Code of Ethics and Conduct, our internal policies, and the external regulations applicable to each of the activities for which we are responsible.

Any non-compliance or breach of our Code of Ethics and Conduct will be assessed by the Ethics Committee if necessary for the application of the corresponding disciplinary actions or sanctions.

Each of us is responsible for ensuring that this Code of Ethics and Conduct is known and complied with by everyone. For this reason, we conduct periodic training and awareness sessions on its content and scope; and we ask you to participate in all the sessions to which you are invited and to set the best example in every action you carry out on behalf of PAM Hotels.
